Tin Soldier Software Releases Word Sling for iPhone/iPad/iPod Touch

Slingshot-Launching Word Game Now Available in Apple's App Store

TORONTO, ON - December 19, 2012 - Tin Soldier Software announced today that its first game, Word Sling, is now available for iPad, iPhone, and iPod Touch. Word Sling combines the arcade action of touch shooting with the casual fun of word games.

In Word Sling, players use a slingshot to shoot single letters into a stream of letters to make words and score points. To earn the most points, players can use a variety of techniques, including bombs to destroy unwanted letters, combining letters with score multipliers to double or triple their score, or saving letters in a reserve for later. To move on to the next level, players earn badges from high scores. "You'll need to use your brain to find words and dexterity to shoot the target!" says Cam Gray, founder of Tin Soldier Software.

Word Sling is a great game to play with friends and family, when you have a few free minutes on your daily commute, or on a quiet evening at home. Word Sling is perfect for players of all ages and skill level, and it's a fun way to practice spelling, especially for younger users.

Word Sling is now available for $0.99 on iPhone and iPod touch, and Word Sling HD is now available for $1.99 on iPad.

Word Sling is available world-wide for purchase at Apple's App Store, or by visiting: www.wordslingapp.com

Tin Soldier Software, an independent app studio based out of Toronto, Canada, was formed in 2012 by Cam Gray to bring unique user experiences to mobile and web.
